SALVAGED LIVING COLLECTION

The Salvaged Living Collection represents the essence of imondi's spirit, a collection of one-of-a-kind floors made using reclaimed woods sourced from all around the world.

“Inspired by our founders’ infectious enthusiasm for wood, we at imondi are obsessed. The list of useful implements that can be crafted from wood is infinite and amazing.

We welcome you to avail yourselves of the gorgeous wood we have humbly attempted to shape into beautiful floors. We focus on handcrafted and sustainable slab rescue - working with wood rescued from old boats, barns, even poles from the Venetian canals. Our passion for design and craftsmanship inspires us to produce innovative one-of-a-kind floors that highlight the materials from which they are derived.”

Lisa Li-Seliger, Director

2. HISTORY

---

Working with wood rescued from derelict boats, barrels, navigation poles, doors, and bridges, imondi endeavours to make floors that highlight the materials from which they are derived; floors infused with the spirit of innovation, playfulness and an incredible history.

---

Salvage Oak, Jack & Jim

The history of the simple barrel is a fascinating one; up until the 19th century one of the most commonly used methods to transport goods. Nowadays only a handful of cooperages remain in existence around the world. The finest grade, vertical grain Oak is selected and assembled; the interior of the barrels scorched by hand, then a branding iron applied. After an extended period of usage making some of the world’s finest whiskies, imondi cooperates with several leading distilleries internationally to create a floor that is dear to the heart of both whisky and wood aficionados alike.

Salvage Oak, Venice

In the historical town of Venice, Oak poles, locally termed “Bricole”, jut out from the surface of the calm waters of the Venetian Lagoon. Over the centuries the mineral deposits that have leached into the wood cause it to develop intriguing colours and the water-embedding process gives the wood incredible density and stability. Working directly with the Venetian authorities, imondi was the first company outside Italy permitted to give a second life to this unique and rare resource.

3. CRAFTSMANSHIP

imondi believes that the heritage and legacy continues to live on within the wood.

---

Great products come from fine materials and meticulous craftsmanship. imondi's skilled craftsmen are passionate about what they create.

At first, individual lumbers are carefully selected and await our creative craftsmen to turn them carefully and slowly into something extraordinary, once again. The expert eye of our artisans analyse the individual board they are working on, recognizing each individual beautiful characteristic for what it is and considering how best to treat and repair it. Imperfections and erosions caused by the passage of time are worked on with highly disciplined hand-work to bring out the characteristics of the wood. And each individual board is finished in the individual style of the specific artisan who works on it. imondi's craftsmen, through the use of traditional methods, produce a floor that we believe sets the standard globally for the reclaimed industry.
